

Emerging Trends in International Trade Law

Jesse Adams

Ph.D.

Humboldt University of Berlin

Unter den Linden 6, 10099 Berlin, Germany

Casey Walker

J.D.

Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv

Volodymyrska St, 60, Kyiv, Ukraine, 01601

Kai Allen

LL.M.

Harvard Law School

Cambridge, MA 02138, USA

Abstract. This article explores the latest developments in international trade law, with a focus on recent legal frameworks that have emerged in response to global economic changes. It examines the impact of these developments on trade practices and the implications for legal professionals working in this field. By analyzing case studies and legislative updates, the article provides a comprehensive overview of how international trade law is evolving to meet the demands of a rapidly changing global market.

Keywords: trade, law, global, market, frameworks

Introduction: The field of international trade law is undergoing significant transformations due to globalization and shifting economic landscapes. As countries navigate complex trade agreements, the need for robust legal frameworks becomes imperative. This article delves into the emerging trends in international trade law, identifying key areas of development and examining their impacts on global trade. By investigating recent legislative changes and providing insights into future directions, this study aims to equip legal practitioners with a deeper understanding of the evolving legal terrain. Furthermore, it highlights case studies that exemplify these changes, offering a practical perspective for legal professionals engaged in international trade. This is a preliminary version. To read the full version of the article, please purchase a subscription.

References

1. Денисенко, Г. В. (2019). Особливості допиту нотаріуса як свідка в кримінальному провадженні. Web of science and Academic Researcher, (1), 99-103.